Halloween Costume Contest Results....

We were delighted to see so many wonderful entries.

Congratulations to John (picture left), our Halloween costume contest winner – you have won a $50.00 dollar gift card for Janie and Jack.

All the entries were so cute, we had such a hard time deciding and so we've decided to award three additional runner-up prizes....

Our three runners-up who are featured above, have won a copy of Dr. Mavani's brand new offering - Ticket Please, which is a behavior management tool. It launched on November 26th. and can be purchased via www.dramee.com

Thank you to everyone who joined in this fun contest.

Thank You For Making A Difference!

Introducing Ticket Please!®

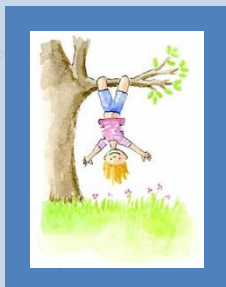

Ticket Please! A fun way to positively motivate children.

As a pediatrician, parents frequently ask me for tools they can use at home to encourage their children to make positive choices.

This game is built upon a foundation of sound principals of behavior modification and includes hands-on, creative, playful materials and procedures to capture the interests of young children.

Ticket Please! is designed for children between three to 10 years of age, a period when children are open to learning and practicing pro-social skills presented to them by adults.

Visit the DoctorAmee Facebook page www.facebook.com/DoctorAmee to learn more or order Ticket Please! You can shop online at www.dramee.com and Ticket Please! is also available for purchase at the Doctors For Kids clinic.

We Asked You To Join Hands and Make a Difference Trick or Treating for UNICEF!

Thanks to the generosity Doctors For Kids Families, your generosity means that more than 664 children will now be vaccinated through UNICEF.

Special thanks to our winning team who had a Halloween Birthday party and asked guests not to bring gifts, but instead to put an anonymous donation into their Trick or Treat for UNICEF box.

Again we've decided to award a runner-up prize to the Behrens Family for their generous family donation – we hope you enjoy your own personal Ticket Please!

Thank you to everyone who joined in our effort!

Warm regards,

Dr. Mavani and the entire Doctors For Kids Team
